Small business owners are the fastest growing segment in the high-net-worth market. While they're focused on running a successful business, they can benefit a lot from having expert guidance on their personal finances. Canada Life's Risk-Managed Portfolios can help them preserve, protect and grow their personal savings so that they can achieve their financial goals with comfort and confidence.

Top concerns of business owners:

- They tend to neglect their personal financial plans because so much of their time is spent running their business.
- Because running a business involves a lot of risk, they may be uncomfortable with taking on too much risk with their own investments.
- They're experts in their business but need expert help when it comes to investing. That's where you come in!

Talk to these clients about how Risk-Managed Portfolios can help them get significant downside protection with modest growth potential while still allowing them to earn a stable income.
